Trip Overview

Champadevi hike day tour is in the southeastern corner of the Kathmandu Valley and is technically in Makwanpur District. There are several routes to reach the summit, but the most popular, and easiest to access is one that takes you along the Dollu Valley through pine forests and along the grassy ridge top. This route starts from Hattiban Resort and the trail is well-trodden and easy to follow. From the resort, the trip will take around three hours, there and back. Parking is available at the bottom of the steep, gravel road to the resort (for bigger vehicles or if you want extra walking time) or at the resort itself.A less used and longer route begins just after the Dakshinkali Temple road, beyond Taudaha Lake.

This route sees you walking along dirt roads through fields until you reach the forest where the trail climbs steeply through the forest to reach the ridge above Haatiban Resort. This will take you from 5 to 6 hours. As mentioned, there are several routes, and some others start from the north side of the Pharping

Valley(starting from Pharping village) and lead you north to the summit of Champadevi. These routes are more tricky to identify.Trek along mountain trails on the way to Champadevi—a popular pilgrimage site for both Hindus and Buddhists. This tour is suitable for active people who enjoy a moderately challenging mountain hike and includes a private guide and vehicle, lunch, entrance fees, and hotel pick up and drop-off.
